

REFRESH CONTROL CIRCUIT FOR ICs WITH A MEMORY ARRAY

Abstract of Disclosure

An IC having an array of memory cells that can be accessed through two different ports is described. Read/write operation is performed through one of the ports. The refresh of the memory cell is performed through the other port. In one embodiment, the other port is only used internally to the memory array.

Figures